

NORTHERN SHOVELER

Populations of this species are relatively stable.

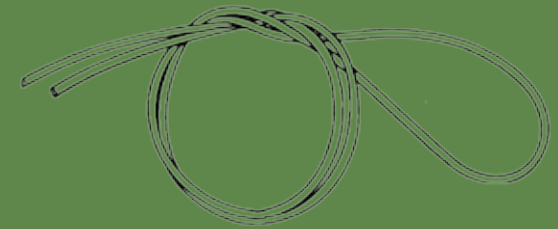

GREATEST THREAT

Loss of wetland habitat is the biggest threat to this species.

HOW CAN YOU HELP?

Put used fishing line in the garbage so it can't harm species that feed, nest, or forage by or near lakes and ponds.

The Federal Duck Stamp and Wetlands Conservation Acts fund wetland habitat restoration projects while also supporting sustainable hunting, fishing, birdwatching, farming, and ranching.

